

Testimonial

As the Managing Director of Probe Investigations (UK) Ltd I found myself questioning the services of my previous firm of 'high street' accountants. In the last year that I used them I experienced difficulty in communicating with them, delays in appointments, excessive fees and poor service. In particular, everything was left to the last minute and I literally had to guess what my tax liabilities might be.

By chance, I crossed path with AIMS. I had the pleasure of a free consultation which, for once was in my native language of English and not Revenuish which my previous accountant delighted in speaking.

I was impressed and gave it a try. I have never looked back.

Now, Roger Owen, my AIMS accountant comes to see me at my office, which is far better. He is on hand for advice whenever I like and he is always there to provide updates and bulletins when he feels I need them. Roger takes care of my bookkeeping, VAT returns, tax returns and payroll which is far more than his predecessors ever did. Above all else, I get 500% better service at 25% of the previous cost. I am able to pay his fees by standing order each month.

At the end of the day, AIMS have taken the stress away for me. Their expertise and approach is valuable and almost tailor made for people like me who are busy working and dislike cumbersome, confusing paperwork.

I approached AIMS to enquire whether they could offer their services to ABI members across the country and they stepped forward with a discount offer.

I can commend AIMS to ABI members or to any small business really. It is certainly worth listening to them – I did and it paid off handsomely.
